SCHOOL NOTES

There is in attendance now at the local public school the largest number of children ever enrolled. The Trustees have found it necessary to purchase sixteen modern desks that all the children may be accommodated.

The "School" danger signs, warning auto drivers, are now in place on San Carlos avenue. Parents, however, are urged to instruct the children to walk on the sidewalk going to and from school.

The Victor machine has proved a great incentive for the pupils to reach school on time. The day is started with music. Tardiness is at a minimum.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

Joe Whitnah, in September Overland

Unnumbered days I labored wearily
Where mad men fought ferociously for gain
The singing gladness and the weeping pain
Of towns had ceased to stir a song in me;
My heart was sick, my soul in livery,
My life enfettered by a golden chain,
My tall hopes prostrated and my grand dreams slain.
Then came I here to Carmel-by-the-Sea.

And dropped my cloak of sorrows on the shore;
For here, beside this bluest of the bays,
A man forgets the wild and futile roar
Of streets, the aching lights, the nameless days
He scattered by the roadside in his vain, vain quest—
And learns at last how sweet it is to rest.

The Charm of Carmel

By A. Carmelite.

"What is the charm of Carmel?" What is it that brings people to Carmel—some of them time and again—and influences many to remain, purchase property and make their homes here?"

These, and similar questions, I have heard and answered time without number.

I shall give only a partial answer now reserving for later contribution further reply along other lines.

One of the most pleasing charms of Carmel, to me, has been the opportunity to meet and become acquainted with persons—shall I say personages?—from all parts of the world whom even to have met is something to boast of.

Here come great artists, writers, teachers, and musicians—individuals who have done and are doing things. We get also some of the people, who, because of some particular hobby, are termed "freak." With the "rationals" and the "freaks" already here, these distinguished visitors mingle freely.

It is quite true, no doubt, that I might have met these great ones elsewhere. The fact remains, however, that I did meet them in little old Carmel by-the-Sea, and that perhaps I never should have met them elsewhere.

The most desirable acquaintances and friends one could wish for are permanent residents here. They are not in the "great" or the "freak" class, but for all that they are in and of and for Carmel.

It is this environment of ever-changing visitors and of cultured residents that makes for some of "the charm of Carmel."

St. Bernards, a new Roman Catholic church, in Oakland, was dedicated by Archbishop Hanna last Sunday. The edifice is patterned in detail after our own Carmel Mission.

If you read it in the Pine Cone, you may safely repeat it.

Splendid Exhibition of Student Pictures

The exhibition of work by students of the Carmel Summer School of Art opened with a reception and private view on Tuesday evening, September 12. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance. Over two hundred canvases were hung, representing work done during the ten weeks session.

The work exhibited was for the most part of such uniform excellence that it was difficult to award the prizes, as announced in the prospectus. Awards were made, however, as follows:

First prize, Jane G. Powers.

Second prize, Ethel D. Turner.

Honorable mention to Bernita Lundy and Margaret Conklin.

The awards were made on the general work of the year, and not on any particular picture.

An unusual amount of interest has been shown in the work of the school and the exhibit this year.

The school is one that Carmel and the Pacific Coast may well be proud of.

Much of the success of the school was due to the cooperation of the Arts and Crafts Club and the Carmel Development Company.

Carmel Tax Rate — $2.77 on $100

The Monterey County tax rate for the fiscal year 1916-17 has been fixed at a total of $1.40 per $100 within incorporated cities and at a total of $1.80 per $100 outside of incorporated cities.

For outside of incorporated cities the total is made up in this way:

Salary fund	$ .20
School fund	.27
Hospital fund	.14
Road fund	.40
Red. bond fund	.02
Adver. fund	.02
Cur. Exp. fund	.40
State Highway bond interest fund	.10
Highway and bridge bond fund	.25
Total	$1.80

A rate of 10 cents on each $100 was assessed by the Board of Supervisors for high schools,

A 3 cents tax on each $100 was levied for the county free library.

The total tax per $100 for Carmel property owners to pay is $2.77. This indicates a reduction of 6 cents as compared with last year.

Presidential election takes place on November 7. If you are not on the great register thirty days before that date you cannot vote. Register now at the Pine Cone office.

WEEKLY GREETING

A man may get to his journey's end by the light of a luntern, but he is less secure than the man who travels by daylight, and he loses the landscape.—Wright.

The Riley Way

Though generous and unusually public-spirited to the extent of making Indianapolis ample cash gifts, James Whitcomb Riley left property amounting to $200,000. The author in the United States who gets the heart as well as the eye of the great literate public, need not practice asceticism unless he wishes. If fairly protected in his royalty rights, and blessed with an honest publisher, he may plan to live in a house by the side of the road and not only see the procession go by but open his doors to those who seem to be in need of shelter and food. This Riley did.—Chrsitian Science Monitor.

"Off With His Head"

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.

I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the world.

I am more deadly than bullets. I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns.

I steal in the United States alone over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one. I find my victims among the rich and poor alike. The young and old, the strong and weak, widows and orphans, know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless. I am everywhere—in the home, on the streets, in the factory, at the railroad crossing, and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, I crush and maim. I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy. Who am I?

My name is Carelessness!

Children as Critics

"There can be no happier fortune than that which has made him the children's poet," says Prof. Bliss Perry of Long fellow. "These wise little people know so well what they like! They are untroubled with scruples and hesitancies. With how sure an instinct do they feel—without comprehending or analyzing—the note of true poetry! Will Stevenson be one of the enduring writers? I look at his twenty-five volumes in shining red and gold, and cannot tell; but when I hear a child murmuring 'My Shadow,' I think I know. If there were a language for such childish secrets, the sweet voices that recite with delicious solemnity 'The Children's Hour' might tell us more about Longfellow than we professional critics—with our meticulous pedantry, our scrutiny of sources, our eyes so trained to detect overtones that we lose the melody—shall ever learn."

Guard Against Fire in the Forest

Matches

Be sure your match is out before throwing it on the ground. Break it in two.

Tobacco

Throw pipe ashes and cigarette and cigar stumps in the dust of the road, and stamp out the fire. Do not throw them into needles, leaves or brush.

Making Camp

Make a small camp fire. Build it in the open — not against a tree or log or near brush. Scrape away anything burnable near it.

Leaving Camp

Never leave a camp fire alone, even for a brief time, without pouring water upon it and then covering it with earth. See 1914 hunting license.

Bonfires

Do not make bonfires when it is windy, or when or where there is the least danger of getting beyond control. Avoid making a larger fire than necessary.

Fighting Fire

If you discover a fire, endeavor to put it out. If you cannot, get word of it to the nearest federal or state fire warden quickly.

Information

Keep in touch with the rangers. Ascertain the number of the district in which you are camping from United States forest rangers, county clerks or newspaper offices. Make a note of it on a card or memorandum book.

A Demand Supplied

The founding of California by the Spainards was dealt with by Mr. Bancroft in his series of books on Pacific coast history, but it has remained for Charles E. Chapman to discuss the import of the enterprise in the serious way which it reserves and meets in his "Founding of Spanish California." He has documented his narrative with much fresh material gathered at the Archivo General de Indias in Seville. One of his contentions is that Spanish occupation in just the precise form it took saved the Pacific coast from falling into British or Russian hands.

CURRENT EVENTS

At one of the sessions of the Teachers' Institute at Asilomar last week, Miss Betty Waud of Sunset school demonstrated the Runkle method of reading, nine of her second grade pupils showing what has been accomplished and the four steps in the method. Her work was applauded. Ruth Pudau of the fourth grade entertained with dances.

The Monterey county Rebublican central committee met last week at Salinas and organized by the election of J. J. Hebron, chairman; H. B. Burus, secretary, and D. F. McKinnon, treasurer. The executive committee comprises J. J. Hebbron, D. F. McKinnon, H. B. Burus, T. A. Work, S. A. McCollum, J. F. Giacomazzi and T. R. Ross. Carmel precinct, strongly Republican, is without a representative in this body.

The proposed improved San Jose Creek road, south of Carmel, off the Coast road, was inspected recently by County Surveyor H. F. Cozzens, Supervisor J. L. D. Roberts, A. M. Allen and others. It was decided to build the new road through the Oliver ranch to the San Franciscquito.

"The Man Who Came Back," a story by John Fleming Wilson, a former resident of Carmel, has been dramatized, and was recently successfully produced at The Playhouse in New York.

Popular vote, a precedent in judging pictures established at the California State Fair, resulted in the following five awards: Mary Curtis Richardson's "Mother and Child" took first prize for figures; Matteo Sandona's "Amber Beads" won second honors, and third prize went to C. P. Townsley for his "Sunshine." In the natural scenery division Guiseppe Cadenasso's "Eucalyptus" received first prize, and "Dashing Wave," by Detleff Sammann, second.

The central committee of the Monterey county Democrats has elected David Wallace chairman, M. S. George secretary, and John Souza treasurer. The executive committee is composed of Carmel Martin, Roy L. Alexander, Conrad Storm, L. B. Ulrey, P. E. Zabala, David Wallace, M. S. George and John Souza.

Mrs E. V. Northrup has filed suit against Thomas P. Meadows, her ex-husband, for $991.29, an amount plaintiff alleges was paid by her as taxes on land held by defendant as life estate. Rather than have the land sold for taxes, which Meadows failed to pay after the couple were divorced, the lady paid the taxes. Now she wants her money back. The parties reside in Carmel Valley.
